

Without data you're just guessing! No more of that with Stratalyze. Global trade is complicated and working with data is complicated. You need special skills in both domains. Stratalyze skips all of that and takes you to the answers.

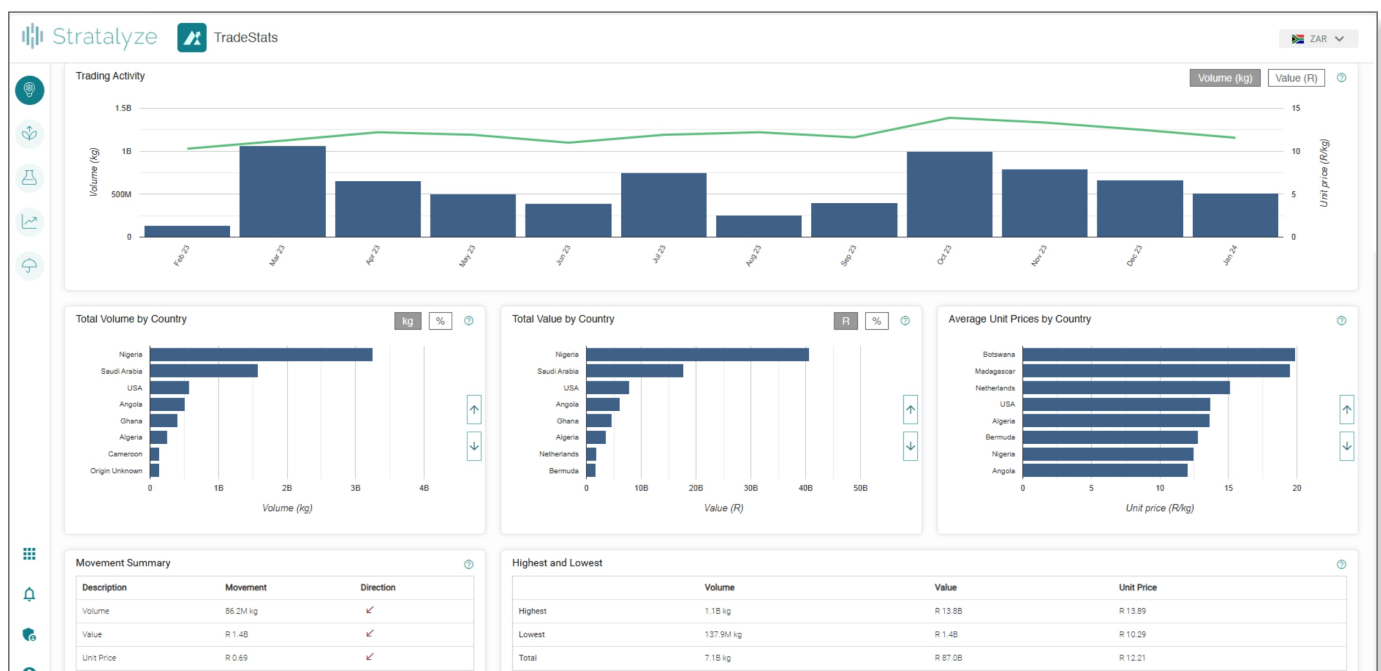

Great trade insights!

We import and process 4.5 million entries per month, representing every import, transshipment, and export into and out of South Africa and we have this since 2010. Each transaction represents a line on a bill of entry, and we have pretty much the full bill of entry apart from the identity of the trader and agent, but even here we have unique identifiers.

Comprehensive trade insights

View all trade activity for every tariff code entering and exiting South Africa easily and instantly. We have an online tariff book which makes searching easy, and you can view your trade data by volume, value and average unit price as well as see the duty rates that are applicable.

Trade data is a leading indicator of what will happen in your market. If imports surge today, they will be sold in the shops tomorrow. If you're a manufacturer, we'll help you identify dumping and if you're an importer we can alert you to a potential risk.

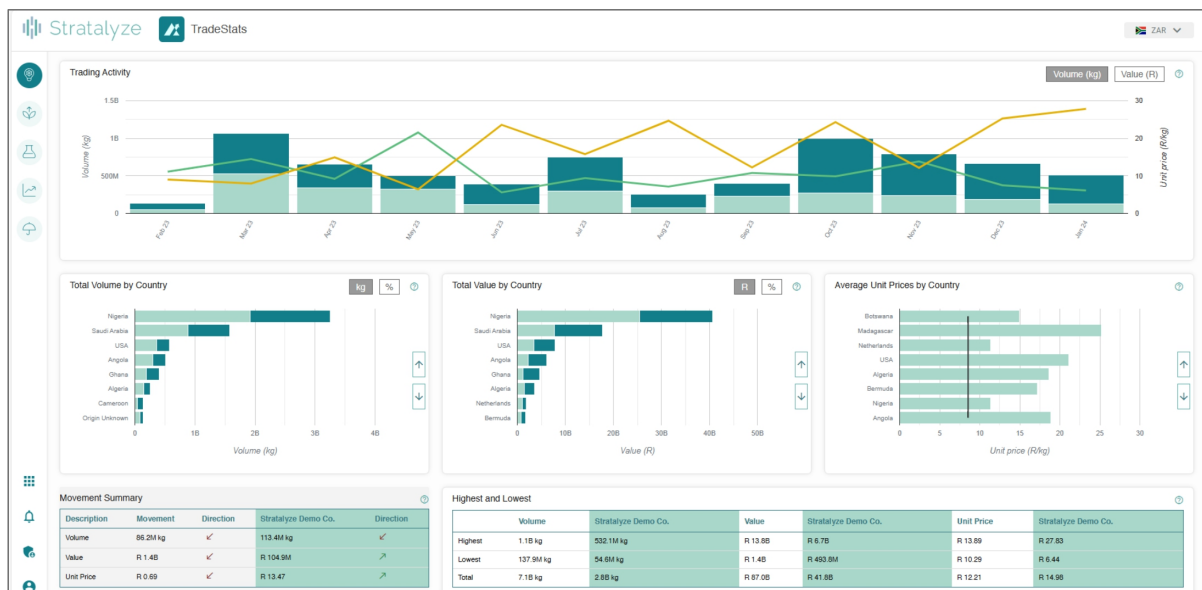

Data can be downloaded in MS Excel either at a high level or at the most granular when that extra bit of deep dive is absolutely required. Use Power BI or another business intelligence tool for your data analysis? Let us know and we'll open an API so you can connect to the data you require.

Benchmark your performance with Overlays

It's not enough to think you buy better than your competitors. You need to be sure and if you're not, you need to see what can be done about this.

...even better trade insights!

Adding overlays to your subscription allows you to benchmark your procurement or exports against the market. No guessing required.

With your permission, SARS will provide us with your data each month, allowing you to see exactly how your imports and exports compare to everyone else.

We have worked with clients to reduce their procurement costs and the start of everything was this very benchmarking tool.

White labelled too

Give us your logo and your colour scheme and we'll give you Stratalyze in your colours. If you would prefer to host it on your own domain, this too can be done.

We have solutions that are industry specific. So, whether you are a clearing and forwarding agent, a bank, or credit insurer we have solutions that will turn you and your customers into world-class trade champions. Get hold of us, we'd love to hear from you!
